Krile Communications Partners with the Fairfield County Foundation to Establish The Fairfield County Diversity, Inclusion and Empowerment Fund

LANCASTER, Ohio --The Fairfield County Foundation is pleased to announce a new giving opportunity for local businesses and individuals. The Fairfield County Diversity, Inclusion and Empowerment Fund, established in partnership with Krile Communications, is dedicated to fostering conversation, collaboration and action to drive positive change in our community.

“As an organization committed to strengthening and building a better community for future generations, we are pleased to be a part of this important effort to promote diversity and inclusion in our community,” said Amy Eyman, Executive Director. “We look forward to supporting the efforts of local non-profits to facilitate conversation, provide education and implement strategies that will create positive change for all members of the community.”

“Our company is dedicated to harnessing creativity and communication to connect our community,” said Krile Communications CEO, Angela Krile. “Every community has unique needs when it comes to diversity and inclusion, and we wanted to establish a fund in Fairfield County that could quickly respond to our specific, local opportunities and challenges. We hope fellow businesses and individuals who are looking for a way to make a local contribution will join us in donating to this important and timely effort.”

Community members interested in donating to the Fairfield County Diversity, Inclusion and Empowerment Fund are encouraged to visit www.fairfieldcountyfoundation.org and click on the Donate button at the top right of the page or contact the Foundation at 740-654-8451.
