Fairfield County Foundation Announces First Meeting for Women's Giving Circle

LANCASTER, Ohio – The Fairfield County Foundation recently announced the Women's Giving Circle, a volunteer-led and member-managed group developed to connect, invest and inspire hope for youth and women in Fairfield County by awarding grants to local non-profits. The Women's Giving Circle will hold their first official meeting at 5:30 p.m. on September 18, 2019 at the Ale House in Lancaster.

"This is a unique opportunity for women to participate as colleagues around giving and to have fun while learning with one another" said Amy Eyman, Executive Director of the Fairfield County Foundation. "Through collaboration and relationships developed in the circle, we can have a greater impact collectively than as individuals."

The Women's Giving Circle holds three meetings per year, with each member contributing $100 per meeting to support ongoing fundraising efforts. The circle focuses on communication and identification of the community's pressing needs and allocates funding to make an impact.

"There are so many caring women in our community who are devoted to making a difference in Fairfield County," said Sherry Orlando, Volunteer Chair for the Women's Giving Circle. "While we can all make an impact as individuals, there is great power in gathering together to share experiences and identify our community's greatest needs, while enjoying the company of other philanthropic women."

Community members interested in participating in the Women's Giving Circle are encouraged to contact the Fairfield County Foundation at 740-654-8451.

About the Fairfield County Foundation:
